

MBA

MBA Fastrack 2025

Verbal Ability and Reading Comprehension

DPP: 7

Para-jumbles 2- Non-MCQ (TITA Questions)

Q1 Carefully read the statements in the questions below and arrange them in a logical order.

1. As nationalism rises across the globe, many see 'cultural exchange' as the antidote to nationalist xenophobia.
2. Cultural exchange is often assumed to be progressive, but it has neither an inherent politics nor an inevitable outcome.
3. Rather than resulting in greater cosmopolitanism, Indo-Iranian exchange fostered modern nationalism.
4. Such exchange was, in fact, an integral part of the emergence of national literatures, cultures and identities in Iran and South Asia.

Q2 The sentences given below, when properly sequenced, form a coherent paragraph. Each sentence is labeled with a number. Decide on the most logical order and enter the sequence of numbers in the space provided. Only numbers are to be entered in the space provided for the answer, and no other letters or characters should be entered.

1. The government used crafty legislation, such as the anti-terrorism law of 2009, to silence criticism of the political order and suppress dissent.
2. The situation in Ethiopia highlights the broader issue of government censorship and suppression of free speech, particularly in countries with diverse ethnic populations where the voices of minority groups are often suppressed.

3. Ethiopia's ethnic groups faced subjugation and political marginalization, particularly among the largest groups, the Oromos and the Amharas.
4. As a result of the government's suppression of dissent, prisons became overcrowded with individuals such as bloggers, activists, opposition politicians, and journalists who reported on governmental abuses.

Q3 Directions: Arrange the following sentences to form a coherent paragraph.

1. Amidst the sprawling metropolis, hidden within the labyrinth of skyscrapers, lies a quaint bookstore, where time seems to stand still, inviting book enthusiasts to embark on a literary journey.
2. This oasis of literature, a refuge for those seeking solace in the written word, has withstood the test of time, preserving the magic of storytelling in an era dominated by digital narratives.
3. As you step through its unassuming entrance, you are greeted by the intoxicating aroma of aging paper, a fragrance that carries the weight of countless tales waiting to be discovered.
4. The shelves, adorned with volumes from diverse genres, whisper tales of forgotten worlds, waiting for curious minds to unravel the mysteries and emotions concealed within the printed pages.

5. Each corner of the bookstore, a haven for both avid readers and casual wanderers, beckons with the promise of literary treasures, sparking the imagination and fostering a love for the written word.

Q4 Directions: Arrange the following sentences to form a coherent paragraph.

1. The ancient city, with its labyrinthine alleys and towering structures, whispered tales of a bygone era.
2. The archaeological team meticulously uncovered artifacts that provided glimpses into the daily lives of the city's inhabitants.
3. Intricate carvings adorned the walls, depicting scenes of cultural practices and historical events.
4. Surrounded by a verdant landscape, the city's ruins stood as a testament to the resilience of civilizations that once thrived.
5. The discovery ignited scholarly debates about the city's role in regional trade and its significance in the broader historical context.

Q5 Directions: Arrange the following sentences to form a coherent paragraph.

1. As the orchestra reached its crescendo, the conductor's hands moved in a choreography of passion and precision, guiding the musicians through the complex symphony.
2. The audience, enraptured by the mesmerizing performance, sat in silence, absorbing every nuance of the musical masterpiece unfolding before them.

3. The soloist, a virtuoso on the violin, skillfully navigated the intricate passages, eliciting emotions that resonated through the concert hall.
4. In the midst of this sonic tapestry, each instrument played a crucial role, contributing to the harmonious blend of melodies and creating an auditory experience that transcended the ordinary

Q6 Directions: Arrange the following sentences to form a coherent paragraph.

1. The scientist, fueled by a relentless curiosity, embarked on an arduous journey of exploration, delving into the mysteries of the cosmos.
2. Each discovery, a stepping stone in the quest for knowledge, unveiled new layers of complexity, pushing the boundaries of human understanding.
3. Armed with cutting-edge technology, the researcher scrutinized distant galaxies, deciphering the cosmic signals that whispered secrets of the universe.
4. The findings, a testament to the indomitable spirit of inquiry, challenged existing theories and paved the way for groundbreaking advancements in astrophysics.
5. The telescope, a powerful tool in the scientist's arsenal, captured images that transcended time and space, revealing celestial wonders that had long remained hidden.

Q7 Carefully read the statements in the questions below and arrange them in a logical order. [TITA]

1. At the beginning of the 20th century, western interest in opium ignored the societal problems it would cause and was largely driven by the promise of economic gain.

2. The Opium Wars (Anglo-Chinese Wars) were a conflict between China and Great Britain caused by opium trade control and laws introduced by China against British India.
3. A movement for opium control emerged around 1900 both within and outside of China, with the domestic drive being essential for even modest reform.
4. The relationship between China and the West, particularly Great Britain, concerning opium was primarily shaped by economic considerations.

Q8 Carefully read the statements in the questions below and arrange them in a logical order. [TITA]

1. Hong Xiuquan established the Taiping Heavenly Kingdom, which quickly gained control over significant parts of southern China.
2. The rebellion was led by Hong Xiuquan and had a large number of participants.
3. The capital of the Taiping Heavenly Kingdom was named Nanjing.
4. Taiping Rebellion was a large-scale rebellion that took place from 1850 to 1864.

Q9 Directions: Arrange the following sentences to form a coherent paragraph.

1. The sun dipped below the horizon, casting a warm glow across the tranquil lake.
2. Nature's symphony echoed, with birdsong and the gentle rustle of leaves creating a serene melody.
3. In the fading light, the reflection of the trees danced on the water's surface, painting a picture of calmness.

4. A group of friends gathered on the lakeshore, enjoying the peaceful beauty of the twilight scene.
5. As evening descended, a feeling of tranquility enveloped the surroundings, providing a moment of respite.

Q10 Carefully read the statements in the questions below and arrange them in a logical order of sequence meaningfully. [TITA]

1. The infant demonstrates an innate ability to hold its breath when submerged in water and grasps objects with enough strength to nearly support its own weight.
2. A healthy newborn is equipped with more than a dozen reflexes that are crucial for its survival.
3. Newborns possess powerful learning mechanisms that enable them to adapt and interact effectively with their environment, even if it is different from that of their distant ancestors.
4. When something brushes its cheek, the newborn turns its head in that direction and proceeds to suck whatever enters its mouth.

Q11 Carefully read the statements in the questions below and arrange them in a logical order of sequence meaningfully. [TITA]

1. The significant loss of life among children in medieval Europe underscores the vulnerability of the young population to various health threats and the harsh realities faced by families during this time.
2. The high mortality rates in medieval Europe can be attributed to factors such as malnutrition, childhood illnesses like measles and diarrhoea, and epidemic diseases that particularly affected the very young.

3. The devastating impact of child mortality is exemplified by King Edward I, who lost seven of his 16 children before they reached the age of seven.
4. In medieval Europe, approximately 30 per cent of babies did not survive past their first birthday, and an additional 20 per cent failed to reach adulthood.
5. Another striking example of high child mortality rates during this period is Catherine of Siena's mother, who gave birth to at least 23 children, but only eight survived to adulthood.

Q12 Carefully read the statements in the questions below and arrange them in a logical order of sequence meaningfully.
[TITA]

1. A TED-Ed animation demonstrates the concept of prisoner's dilemmas using whimsical felt stop-motion and gingerbread men faced with the challenge of preserving the maximum number of their limbs.
2. Through the illustration of prisoner's dilemma scenarios, the TED-Ed animation helps viewers better understand the complexities of these thought experiments and their real-world consequences.
3. Prisoner's dilemmas involve two rational agents who must decide between betraying one another for a large individual reward or cooperating for a smaller shared reward, without the ability to communicate with each other.
4. As one of the most well-known examples of game theory, prisoner's dilemmas have significant real-life implications, particularly in matters of government and diplomacy.

5. In these thought experiments, there is a critical condition – if both agents choose to betray each other, they end up with nothing.

Q13 Each sentence is labeled with a number. Decide on the most logical order and enter the sequence of numbers in the space provided. Only numbers are to be entered in the space provided for the answer, and no other letters or characters should be entered.

1. The French sociologist Émile Durkheim in the 19th century was one of the first to postulate why people had become so unhappy in modern societies.
2. Even as people had greater access to goods and services, and enjoyed the benefits of vastly improved living standards in a manner that would have been inconceivable to previous generations, they were also increasingly susceptible to despair and even driven to suicide.
3. This pattern held for other industrialised countries across western Europe: the suicide rates among the richer, more advanced consumer-capitalist countries such as the United Kingdom and Denmark were far greater than those in poorer countries such as Italy.
4. He observed a peculiar paradox as France transitioned from a largely agricultural country to an urban, industrial, consumer society.

Q14 Each sentence is labeled with a number. Decide on the most logical order and enter the sequence of numbers in the space provided. Only numbers are to be entered in the space provided for the answer, and no other letters or characters should be entered.

1. In the absence of the now-banned traditional gods, they served as a focus of worship for the Amarna elite who were forbidden to communicate directly with the Aten.
2. Amarna had been a city filled with carved and painted images of the royal family: the king, his consort Nefertiti and their six daughters.
3. These images were not merely decorative.
4. Prominent citizens furnished their homes and gardens with statues of the king and queen, or with scenes depicting the royal family going about their daily business beneath the Aten's rays.
5. These images were a conspicuous means of demonstrating loyalty to the regime.

Q15 Each sentence is labeled with a number. Decide on the most logical order and enter the sequence of numbers in the space provided. Only numbers are to be entered in the space provided for the answer, and no other letters or characters should be entered.

1. Like Cleopatra Selene, Juba was the last surviving member of a deposed North African royal family, whose kingdom had been seized by Rome and subsequently converted into a province.
2. His father, Juba I, had been King of Numidia (modern Libya) but had chosen the wrong side in a previous Roman civil war, and, as with Cleopatra, he had died by suicide leaving his kingdom, his wealth, and his child to be confiscated by Rome and repurposed.

3. Like Cleopatra Selene, Juba had been displayed as booty in a military triumph, Julius Caesar's Quadruple Triumph in 46 BCE.
4. But unlike Cleopatra Selene, he had been an oblivious infant at the time, leading Caesar's biographer Plutarch to describe him as 'the happiest captive ever captured'.

Q16 Each sentence is labeled with a number. Decide on the most logical order and enter the sequence of numbers in the space provided. Only numbers are to be entered in the space provided for the answer, and no other letters or characters should be entered.

1. To be fully integrated with an ecosystem, an organism must cling to its niches, and one of those is a carefully carved-out temporal niche.
2. For example, the first mammals' warm-bloodedness allowed for successful colonisation of the nighttime world, when reptilian systems slowed down.
3. Two similar species can comfortably occupy the same space if they do so at different times of day.
4. Our modern built environment provides food, warmth and light at all hours, as well as safeguarding us from nocturnal predators.

Q17 Each sentence is labeled with a number. Decide on the most logical order and enter the sequence of numbers in the space provided. Only numbers are to be entered in the space provided for the answer, and no other letters or characters should be entered.

1. The statistical theory has been developed to extract information from raw data using formalism and machinery of mathematics.

2. The statistical theory needs to be incorporated into the project through the employment of a quantitative research design and a positivist paradigm.
3. Field data will be collected and converted into numerical format in order for statistical calculations to be made and conclusions drawn.
4. The theory has the potential to enrich a research project on the influence of staffing ratios on patient satisfaction during ER visits through enhanced validity and greater attention to both heterogeneities of effects and causal processes producing different types of patient satisfaction levels depending on staffing ratios.

Q18 Carefully read the statements in the questions below and arrange them in a logical order of sequence meaningfully.
[TITA]

1. It is a common misconception that after the installation of new technology profits will go up, efficiency will be increased with minimal downtime being experienced.
2. Acquisition of new technology is viewed by many as the magic that will change everything into gold.
3. Fixing current shortcomings in the system requires a brilliant look at the business processes including whether the set protocols are being followed.
4. But this is not always so because technology is about business processes.

Q19 Carefully read the statements in the questions below and arrange them in a logical order of sequence meaningfully.

[TITA]

1. The human nervous System employs specialized cells known as “neurons” to deliver impulses or messages throughout the body.
2. The Nervous System is the “command and control center of the body” and is controlled by the brain and governs people’s actions, thoughts, and instinctive responses.
3. These electrical impulses go between the brain, the skin, the organs, the glands, and the muscles.
4. The nervous system regulates other bodily systems and activities like digestion, respiration, and overall development.

Q20 Carefully read the statements in the questions below and arrange them in a logical order of sequence meaningfully.
[TITA]

1. The question arises of how female birds know that the male in front of them is suitable for continuing their lineage.
2. One assumption is that the more striking appearance of a male, the more likely he is to attract a female.
3. Birds rarely have families and live with a partner for long periods.

4. Reproductive mechanisms in birds are more complex than in humans as a social species.

Q21 Carefully read the statements in the questions below and arrange them in a logical order of sequence meaningfully. [TITA]

1. The definition of leisure is highly dependent on the quality of the experience.
2. Leisure can be defined in various ways and has a positive connotation in the mass consciousness, associated with pleasant time and freedom.
3. The author's point is that leisure is not just about the amount of time, but also about the quality of the experience during that time.
4. Wilson argues that leisure is often used to refer to a portion of time, such as working hours, communication situations, or driving a car.

Q22 Carefully read the statements in the questions below and arrange them in a logical order of sequence meaningfully. [TITA]

1. Yeast is one of the organisms that perform cellular fermentation in the presence of a substrate to produce energy.
2. All living organisms obtain their energy from the environment through various processes.

3. The process also occurs in the muscle cells of animals when performing a vigorous activity and in bacteria.
4. An example of such a process is cellular fermentation, a pathway of breaking down sugars in the absence of oxygen.

Q23 Carefully read the statements in the questions below and arrange them in a logical order of sequence meaningfully. [TITA]

1. In order for the USA to explore outer space, scientists and researchers came up with artificial satellites that enhanced the provision of eminent security in the country.
2. The United States' involvement in the expansion of outer space contributed immensely to the technological advancement of the country.
3. The United States was one of the countries that took part in the Cold War and also involved itself in Space Race.
4. The United States also focused much on the development of eminent security to counter any attack that might have threatened the national security of the state.

Q24 Each sentence is labeled with a number. Decide on the most logical order and enter the sequence of numbers in the space provided. Only numbers are to be entered in the space provided for the answer, and no other letters or characters should be entered.

1. Many from FDR's cabinet remained and helped a relatively inexperienced Truman transition.
2. Truman came into office after the death of Roosevelt and his subsequent reelection in 1946.
3. Truman sought to pursue a similar line of socially-friendly policies as Roosevelt.
4. Truman focused strongly on economics and labor, attempting to achieve a healthy transition from a wartime economy to a consumer-driven one.

Q25 Carefully read the statements in the questions below and arrange them in a logical order of sequence meaningfully. [TITA]

1. The use of agencies and the Internet in advertising tourism products facilitates a number of advantages, which include increased consumer awareness, effective competition, and increased purchases.
2. By using agencies and the Internet to advertise products of a tourism establishment, the level of information available for the potential consumers increases.

3. Consumers become aware of the products, and thus, are tempted to visit the subject destination and purchase them.
4. Agencies and the Internet are some of the major advertising channels that tourism establishments can use in reaching the target tourists.

Q26 Each sentence is labeled with a number. Decide on the most logical order and enter the sequence of numbers in the space provided. Only numbers are to be entered in the space provided for the answer, and no other letters or characters should be entered.

1. Tourists only pay for the services of using these products without having to assume ownership.
2. The High-Speed Elevators offer tourists the opportunity of experiencing a fast vertical ride while viewing panoramic features of the city.
3. These products are non-tangible since tourists only pay for the entertainment experience without having to personally own any of the products after making payments.
4. The other products such as Edge Walk, Red Rocket, and Night Lighting offer entertainment satisfaction to tourists.

Q27 Each sentence is labeled with a number. Decide on the most logical order and enter the sequence of numbers in the space provided. Only numbers are to be entered in the space provided for the answer, and no other letters or characters should be entered.

1. The explorers' journey marked the beginning of a new era in the history of global exploration and the mapping of the world.
2. At that time, the maps of the world were not complete or accurate and it was believed that there was no land beyond Africa and Eurasia.
3. The origin of State Global Colonization is said to have started in the 15th century with the discovery of the American continents by explorers from Spanish and Portugal Empires.
4. The discovery of new lands, new continents sparked a wave of exploratory expeditions.

Q28 Each sentence is labeled with a number. Decide on the most logical order and enter the sequence of numbers in the space provided. Only numbers are to be entered in the space provided for the answer, and no other letters or characters should be entered.

1. This diversity of life is essential to the well-being of our planet and the survival of our species.
2. However, human activities such as deforestation, overfishing, and pollution are threatening this diversity.
3. The earth is home to an incredible variety of plant and animal species, from the tiniest microorganisms to the largest mammals.
4. In order to preserve biodiversity, it is important for humans to take action to protect the natural world.

Q29 Carefully read the statements in the questions below and arrange them in a logical order of sequence meaningfully. [TITA]

1. The regulations of chemical additives in food ensure their safe and responsible use in the food industry.

2. Chemical food additives play a crucial role in the modern food industry, increasing storage ability, improving taste and quality, making mass production cheaper, and making products available to global consumers.
3. Inorganic additives are added to food to preserve flavor, enhance taste, and appearance.
4. The use of chemical additives in food is strongly regulated by national and international laws.

Q30 Carefully read the statements in the questions below and arrange them in a logical order of sequence meaningfully. [TITA]

1. It regulates the rules of commerce and works with governments and local committees to ensure the smooth and successful conduct of the Olympic Games.
2. The IOC is an international non-governmental organization that was established in Switzerland in 1894.
3. The Olympic Games are organized every four years by the International Olympic Committee (IOC).
4. Despite its status as a non-governmental organization, the International Olympic Committee (IOC) acts as a governmental body to ensure that the games are conducted in accordance with the rules, laws, ethics, and environmental requirements.

Answer Key

Q1 2143
Q2 3142
Q3 12345
Q4 41325
Q5 2341
Q6 13524
Q7 2143
Q8 4213
Q9 43215
Q10 2413
Q11 42351
Q12 35412
Q13 1423
Q14 23145
Q15 1234

Q16 1234
Q17 1423
Q18 2143
Q19 2413
Q20 4312
Q21 2413
Q22 2413
Q23 3214
Q24 2314
Q25 4123
Q26 2431
Q27 3241
Q28 3142
Q29 3241
Q30 3241

Hints & Solutions

Note: scan the QR code to watch video solution

Q1 Text Solution:

Explanation:

The logical sequence of the statements should be:

2 1 4 3

Statement-2 should come first as it introduces the topic of discussion - cultural exchange - and challenges the assumption that cultural exchange is inherently progressive.

Statement-1 should follow, as it presents the contrasting view that cultural exchange might be seen as an antidote to nationalist xenophobia. This statement builds upon the initial assertion and provides context for the contemporary relevance of the issue.

Statement-4 introduces a historical example (Iran and South Asia) to illustrate the point that cultural exchange has played a significant role in the development of national literatures, cultures, and identities. Placing this statement here helps to ground the discussion in real-world examples.

Finally, statement-3 concludes the sequence by highlighting the unexpected outcome of the Indo-Iranian exchange - fostering modern nationalism rather than promoting cosmopolitanism. This statement effectively reinforces the main point that cultural exchange does not have an inherent politics or an inevitable outcome.

The sequence of these statements presents a coherent argument that questions the commonly held assumption that cultural exchange is inherently progressive and offers an alternative perspective based on historical evidence.

Video Solution:

Q2 Text Solution:

Explanation

The correct sequence is 3142. This sequence is correct as it follows the chronological progression of events and provides a clear explanation of the situation in Ethiopia.

Statement-3 sets the stage by highlighting the subjugation and political marginalization faced by Ethiopia's ethnic groups. Statement-1 then explains how the government used legislation to silence dissent. Statement-4 provides the consequences of this suppression, showing how prisons became overcrowded with individuals who reported on governmental abuses. Finally, Statement-2 contextualizes the situation in Ethiopia within the larger issue of government censorship and suppression of free speech.

Video Solution:

Q3 Text Solution:

Essence of the question: This question tests the ability to arrange sentences coherently to describe a unique setting, focusing on a bookstore. It evaluates the understanding of the atmosphere, characteristics, and elements that contribute to the overall experience of the bookstore.

Android App

| iOS App

| PW Website

Explanation for Correct Answer: The correct sequence 12345 creates a vivid picture. It starts by describing the sensory experience of entering the bookstore, followed by the establishment's location and purpose. The sequence then introduces the resilience of the bookstore and the magic within its shelves, concluding with an invitation to explore and discover literary treasures.

Explanation for Incorrect Answer: The incorrect sequence disrupts the natural flow of the paragraph by placing descriptive elements in a non-sequential order. The sensory experience, spatial details, thematic elements, and the bookstore's resilience should be presented in a way that allows readers to smoothly follow the narrative and build a coherent mental image of the literary environment described.

Trap of the Question: The trap lies in the initial statement of Options 3 which may seem plausible as a starting point.

Video Solution:

Q4 Text Solution:

Essence of the Question: This question assesses the test-taker's ability to arrange sentences logically, creating a coherent and meaningful paragraph on the exploration of an ancient city. It requires understanding the chronological flow of events and ensuring that each sentence contributes to the overall narrative.

Explanation for Correct Answer: 4) The opening sentence sets the scene by describing the city's ruins surrounded by a verdant landscape, creating a starting point for the subsequent details. 1) The mention of the ancient city with its labyrinthine alleys and towering structures adds depth to the narrative, providing context for the archaeological exploration. 3) Intricate carvings adorned the walls, further detailing the city's rich history and cultural practices. 2) The archaeological team's meticulous uncovering of artifacts naturally follows, presenting tangible evidence of the city's daily lives. 5) The conclusion introduces scholarly debates ignited by the discovery, offering a broader context and significance to the ancient city.

Explanation for Incorrect Answer: Potential incorrect sequences may disrupt the chronological progression of the paragraph. For instance, placing sentence B at the beginning may lead to a lack of context for the archaeological team's actions and make it challenging for the reader to follow the narrative cohesively.

Trap of the Question: The trap lies in selecting arrangements that may seem plausible but do not follow a logical sequence. Test-takers need to consider the natural progression of events in an archaeological exploration context, ensuring that each sentence contributes meaningfully to the overall story. The temptation to focus solely on the individual sentences rather than their collective narrative could lead to selecting an arrangement that lacks coherence.

Video Solution:

Q5 Text Solution:

Essence of the Question: This question assesses the test-taker's ability to arrange sentences in a logical and coherent sequence to form a well-structured paragraph. It requires understanding the flow of ideas and ensuring that each sentence contributes meaningfully to the overall narrative.

Explanation for Correct Answer: 2) The paragraph begins by setting the scene with the audience's reaction to the musical performance, creating a context for the subsequent sentences. 3) The focus then shifts to the soloist's skillful navigation of intricate passages, emphasizing the key role of a virtuoso in the musical masterpiece. 4) Describing the harmonious blend of instruments adds depth to the narrative, portraying the complexity and richness of the musical experience. 1) The crescendo of the orchestra, guided by the conductor's passionate and precise movements, serves as a climactic moment in the paragraph.

Explanation for Incorrect Answer: Potential incorrect sequences may disrupt the logical progression of the paragraph. For example, placing sentence E at the beginning may lead to a lack of context for the audience's reaction and the soloist's performance, resulting in a less coherent narrative.

Trap of the Question: The trap lies in choosing arrangements that may seem plausible but do not follow a logical sequence. Test-takers need to consider the natural progression of ideas in a musical performance context, ensuring that each sentence contributes meaningfully to the overall story. The temptation to focus solely on the individual sentences rather than their collective narrative could lead to selecting an arrangement that lacks coherence.

Video Solution:

Q6 Text Solution:

Essence of the Question: This question evaluates the test-taker's ability to arrange sentences logically, creating a coherent and meaningful paragraph. It requires understanding the flow of ideas and ensuring that each sentence contributes to the overall narrative on the scientist's exploration of the cosmos.

Explanation for Correct Answer: 1) The opening sentence introduces the scientist's exploration of the cosmos, providing a starting point for the subsequent details. 3) The use of cutting-edge technology and scrutinizing distant galaxies sets the stage for the scientific inquiry, emphasizing the tools and methods employed. 5) Describing the telescope as a powerful tool adds depth to the narrative, showcasing a key instrument in the scientist's exploration. 2) Each discovery becomes a stepping stone, creating a natural progression in the quest for knowledge and unveiling new layers of complexity. 4) The findings, as a testament to the indomitable spirit of inquiry, serve as a conclusion, highlighting their impact on astrophysics.

Explanation for Incorrect Answer: Incorrect sequences may disrupt the logical flow of the paragraph. For instance, placing sentence D at the beginning could result in a lack of context for the scientist's exploration, making it challenging for the reader to follow the narrative cohesively.

Trap of the Question: The trap lies in choosing arrangements that may seem plausible but do not adhere to a logical progression of ideas. Test-takers should be cautious of arrangements that disrupt the natural flow of the scientist's exploration, potentially leading to a less coherent and effective paragraph. The challenge is to resist the temptation of selecting sequences that might sound individually meaningful but do not contribute to a well-structured narrative.

Video Solution:

Q7 Text Solution:

Explanation

The correct sequence is 2143. This sequence is correct because it provides a clear understanding of the origin and context of the Opium Wars. Statement 2 highlights the conflict between China and Great Britain and its cause related to opium trade control and laws. Statement 1 mentions the western interest in opium at the beginning of the 20th century, which was largely driven by the promise of economic gain. Statement 4 emphasizes the primary factor that shaped Sino-Western relations concerning opium, particularly with Great Britain. Finally, Statement 3 mentions the emergence of the opium control movement around 1900, both domestically and internationally, with the domestic drive being critical for any form of reform. This sequence provides a comprehensive overview of the Opium Wars and the context surrounding them, making it a logically consistent arrangement of statements.

Video Solution:

Q8 Text Solution:

Explanation

The correct sequence is 4213. This sequence is correct because statement 4 starts with the background of the Taiping Rebellion and provides information about the scale and duration of the rebellion. Statement 2 highlights the leader of the rebellion, Hong Xiuquan, and the number of participants. Statement 1 mentions the establishment of the Taiping Heavenly Kingdom by Hong Xiuquan and its quick gain of control over important parts of southern China. Statement 3 specifies the capital of the kingdom, which was named Nanjing. This sequence provides a clear understanding of the Taiping Rebellion and its outcome, making it a logically consistent arrangement of statements.

Video Solution:

Q9 Text Solution:

Essence of the Question: This question assesses the test-taker's ability to arrange sentences logically, creating a coherent and meaningful paragraph. It revolves around a serene twilight scene at a lake, capturing the beauty of nature and the tranquility of the surroundings.

Explanation for Correct Answer: 4) The opening sentence sets the scene by introducing the group of friends gathering on the lakeshore. 3) The description of the reflection of trees on the water adds a visual element, enhancing the serene atmosphere. 2) Nature's symphony, with birdsong and the gentle rustle of leaves, becomes a natural progression, adding an auditory dimension to the narrative. 1) The sunset and the warm glow across the tranquil lake create a picturesque twilight scene. 5) The concluding sentence encapsulates the overall feeling of tranquility enveloping the surroundings, providing a moment of respite.

Explanation for Incorrect Answer: Potential incorrect sequences may disrupt the logical progression of the paragraph. For instance, placing sentence 1 at the beginning could result in a lack of context for the group of friends gathering on the lakeshore.

Trap of the Question: The trap lies in choosing arrangements that may seem plausible but do not adhere to a logical progression of ideas. Test-takers should be cautious of arrangements that disrupt the natural flow of the twilight scene narrative, potentially leading to a less coherent and effective paragraph.

Video Solution:

Q10 Text Solution:

Solution

The passage provided discusses the reflexes of a healthy newborn and how these reflexes, as well as their learning mechanisms, are important for their survival and interaction with the world. To create a logical sequence of statements from the passage, we must ensure that each statement flows naturally into the next, with a clear progression of ideas.

Statement-2 is placed first because it introduces the primary topic - newborn reflexes and their importance for survival. By starting with an overview, we set the context for the following statements, which will delve into specific examples of these reflexes. Statement-4 offers a detailed example of one of the reflexes mentioned in the statement-2. This follows logically from the introductory statement as it begins to illustrate the practical application of these reflexes, giving the reader a concrete example of how they manifest in a newborn's behavior.

Continuing from the statement-4, statement-1 provides additional examples of newborn reflexes. This allows the reader to gain a deeper understanding of the range and diversity of these reflexes and their importance for the infant's survival and development.

Statement-3 broadens the scope of the discussion by not only focusing on reflexes but also emphasizing the newborn's adaptive learning capabilities. This statement is placed last because it serves as a conclusion that ties the previous examples together and highlights the significance of both reflexes and learning mechanisms in the context of the infant's interaction with their environment.

In summary, the sequence follows a logical order by starting with an introduction to the topic, providing specific examples of reflexes, and concluding with a broader perspective on the role of learning mechanisms in a newborn's adaptation to their environment. This progression ensures a coherent and meaningful presentation of the passage's main ideas.

Video Solution:

Q11 Text Solution:

Solution

The correct sequence is 42351.

Statement-4 introduces the topic by providing an overview of child mortality rates in medieval Europe. This statement sets the stage for the subsequent statements, which will discuss the reasons behind these high rates and provide specific examples.

Statement-2 logically follows the statement-4 by explaining the main factors contributing to the high mortality rates among children in medieval Europe. This statement helps the reader understand why so many children did not survive to adulthood during this time.

Statement-3 introduces a historical example (King Edward I) to illustrate the devastating impact of child mortality on individual families. This example adds a personal and relatable dimension to the topic, allowing the reader to grasp the severity of the situation.

Statement-5 provides another historical example (Catherine of Siena's mother) to further emphasize the high child mortality rates in medieval Europe. Including multiple examples strengthens the argument and reinforces the importance of understanding the challenges faced by families during this period.

Finally, statement 1 serves as a conclusion that highlights the vulnerability of young children in medieval Europe and the harsh realities faced by families. This statement ties the previous examples and explanations together and underscores the significance of the topic.

The sequence follows a logical order by starting with an introduction to child mortality rates in medieval Europe, discussing the contributing factors, providing specific historical examples to illustrate the issue, and concluding with a statement that highlights the vulnerability of young children and the challenges faced by families during this time.

This structure ensures a coherent and meaningful presentation of the passage's main ideas.

Video Solution:Q12 Text Solution:

Solution

The correct sequence is 35412.

Statement-3 introduces the concept of prisoner's dilemmas and provides an overview of the scenario involving two rational agents making a decision. This sets the stage for the subsequent statements, which will discuss the conditions and implications of these thought experiments.

Statement-5 logically follows the introduction by explaining the critical condition in prisoner's dilemmas – the potential for both agents to end up with nothing if they both betray each other. This statement highlights the risks involved in these scenarios and adds complexity to the decision-making process.

Statement-4 broadens the scope of the discussion by addressing the real-life implications of prisoner's dilemmas, particularly in the realms of government and diplomacy. This statement helps the reader understand the significance and relevance of these thought experiments beyond the theoretical realm.

Statement-1 introduces the TED-Ed animation, which uses a creative and engaging approach to illustrate the concept of prisoner's dilemmas. This statement serves as a transition from discussing the theoretical aspects of the topic to providing a tangible example of how the concept can be presented and explored.

Finally, statement-2 serves as a conclusion that highlights the purpose and effectiveness of the TED-Ed animation in helping viewers understand the complexities of prisoner's dilemmas and their real-world implications. This statement ties together the previous statements and emphasizes the value of using accessible and engaging methods to explain complex concepts.

The sequence follows a logical order by introducing the concept of prisoner's dilemmas, discussing the critical conditions and real-life implications, presenting the TED-Ed animation as an illustrative example, and concluding with a statement that highlights the effectiveness of the animation in conveying the complexities of the topic. This structure ensures a coherent and meaningful presentation of the passage's main ideas.

Video Solution:

Q13 Text Solution:

Analysis:

Sentence 1: "The French sociologist Émile Durkheim in the 19th century was one of the first to postulate why people had become so unhappy in modern societies."

- Role: Introduces Émile Durkheim as a key figure in understanding unhappiness in modern societies.

- Placement: It serves as a strong opening statement to establish the context of the discussion.

Sentence 4: "He observed a peculiar paradox as France transitioned from a largely agricultural country to an urban, industrial, consumer society."

- Role: This sentence builds on the introduction by specifying Durkheim's observations related to the societal transition occurring in France.
- Placement: Following the introduction, it logically follows as it continues to discuss Durkheim's findings.

Sentence 2: "Even as people had greater access to goods and services, and enjoyed the benefits of vastly improved living standards in a manner that would have been inconceivable to previous generations, they were also increasingly susceptible to despair and even driven to suicide."

- Role: This sentence provides specific evidence of the unhappiness that Durkheim observed, illustrating the paradox of improved living standards coexisting with increased despair.
- Placement: It fits well after sentence 4 because it elaborates on the consequences of the societal changes Durkheim noted.

Sentence 3: "This pattern held for other industrialised countries across western Europe: the suicide rates among the richer, more advanced consumer-capitalist countries such as the United Kingdom and Denmark were far greater than those in poorer countries such as Italy."

- Role: This sentence presents a comparative analysis of Durkheim's findings across different countries, reinforcing the argument about the relationship between wealth and despair.
- Placement: It serves as a concluding statement that summarizes the broader implications of Durkheim's observations, logically following sentence 2.

Video Solution:

Q14 Text Solution:

Explanation of the Correct Order (2-3-1-4-5):

Sentence 2: "Amarna had been a city filled with carved and painted images of the royal family: the king, his consort Nefertiti and their six daughters."

This sentence serves as an introduction to the topic, establishing the context of Amarna as a vibrant city characterized by visual representations of the royal family. It sets the stage for understanding the significance of these images.

Sentence 3: "These images were not merely decorative."

Following the introduction of the images, this sentence emphasizes their importance beyond mere aesthetics. It serves as a transition to a deeper exploration of the function and meaning of these representations within Amarna society.

Sentence 1: "In the absence of the now-banned traditional gods, they served as a focus of worship for the Amarna elite who were forbidden to communicate directly with the Aten."

This sentence explains the significance of the images in a religious context, highlighting their role in worship during a time when traditional deities were no longer allowed. It connects the previous idea about the images' importance to the political and religious climate of Amarna.

Sentence 4: "Prominent citizens furnished their homes and gardens with statues of the king and queen, or with scenes depicting the royal family going about their daily business beneath the Aten's rays."

This sentence provides specific examples of how the royal family was depicted in public and private spaces, illustrating the pervasiveness of these images in everyday life. It gives tangible evidence of the previous statements about the focus on the royal family.

Sentence 5: "These images were a conspicuous means of demonstrating loyalty to the regime."

Finally, this sentence summarizes the purpose of the images, framing them as symbols of allegiance to the ruling power. It reinforces the previous points about the images serving both a religious and political function, concluding the paragraph with a clear statement about their role in society.

Video Solution:

Q15 Text Solution:

Analysis:

Sentence 1: "Like Cleopatra Selene, Juba was the last surviving member of a deposed North African royal family, whose kingdom had been seized by Rome and subsequently converted into a province."

Role: This sentence introduces Juba and establishes his identity in relation to Cleopatra Selene. It sets the historical context of North African royal families that were deposed by Rome, establishing a parallel between the two figures.

Placement: As the opening sentence, it effectively introduces the central theme of deposed royalty.

Sentence 2: "His father, Juba I, had been King of Numidia (modern Libya) but had chosen the wrong side in a previous Roman civil war, and, as with Cleopatra, he had died by suicide leaving his kingdom, his wealth, and his child to be confiscated by Rome and repurposed."

Role: This sentence provides background information about Juba's lineage and the fate of his family, specifically detailing the circumstances surrounding his father's death and the consequences of political choices. It deepens the context established in sentence 1 by connecting Juba's past to the larger narrative of Roman political machinations.

Placement: It logically follows sentence 1 as it elaborates on Juba's family background and the historical events that shaped his situation.

Sentence 3: "Like Cleopatra Selene, Juba had been displayed as booty in a military triumph, Julius Caesar's Quadruple Triumph in 46 BCE."

Role: This sentence parallels Juba's experience with that of Cleopatra Selene, indicating that both were showcased as trophies of war. It specifically mentions the event where Juba was displayed, tying back to the historical context of Rome's treatment of captured royalty.

Placement: This sentence fits well after sentence 2 because it builds on the narrative by showing the fate that befell Juba as a result of his family's downfall.

Sentence 4: "But unlike Cleopatra Selene, he had been an oblivious infant at the time, leading Caesar's biographer Plutarch to describe him as 'the happiest captive ever captured'."

Role: This sentence contrasts Juba's situation with that of Cleopatra Selene, emphasizing his youth and innocence at the time of his capture. It concludes the narrative by providing a specific quote from Plutarch, adding a personal touch to Juba's story and highlighting the differences between the two characters.

Placement: As a concluding statement, it wraps up the discussion by drawing a distinction between Juba and Cleopatra, offering a light-hearted note on his status as a captive.

Video Solution:

Q16 Text Solution:

Analysis:

Sentence 1: "To be fully integrated with an ecosystem, an organism must cling to its niches, and one of those is a carefully carved-out temporal niche."

Role: This sentence introduces the core concept of the paragraph—how organisms adapt to specific ecological niches, particularly temporal ones (times of day or night). It establishes the general idea of niche adaptation, making it an ideal starting point.

Placement: This is the first sentence because it sets the foundation for discussing temporal niches and ecosystem integration.

Sentence 2: "For example, the first mammals' warm-bloodedness allowed for successful colonisation of the nighttime world, when reptilian systems slowed down."

Role: This sentence provides an example to illustrate the concept introduced in sentence 1. It explains how early mammals adapted to a specific temporal niche (nighttime) to thrive in their environment.

Placement: It follows sentence 1 because it directly supports the idea of temporal niches with a concrete example. It gives a real-world illustration of the theoretical concept introduced in the first sentence.

Sentence 3: "Two similar species can comfortably occupy the same space if they do so at different times of day."

Role: This sentence introduces the idea that temporal niches allow species to share physical spaces without competition by using different times of day. It builds on the example of temporal adaptation by broadening the concept to include species cohabitation.

Placement: This follows sentence 2 because it generalizes the specific example of mammals and reptiles to the broader idea of species using different times of day to avoid competition, continuing the focus on temporal niches.

Sentence 4: "Our modern built environment provides food, warmth and light at all hours, as well as safeguarding us from nocturnal predators."

Role: This sentence contrasts the previous examples by discussing how humans have overcome the limitations of temporal niches in modern environments. It introduces the idea that human-built environments reduce the need for strict temporal niches.

Placement: This is the last sentence because it shifts the focus from the natural world to the modern human context, offering a contrast to the ecological examples discussed earlier.

Video Solution:

Q17 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

Here four sentences are given which are not in order. We need to arrange them logically in a proper sequence so that a meaningful paragraph can be formed. The correct order will be our answer.

Explanation for the answer:

The correct sequence is 1423. This sequence is correct because it outlines the key points of the passage in a logical manner. The passage begins with sentence 1 by introducing the statistical theory and its purpose in the context of a research project on the influence of staffing ratios on patient satisfaction during ER visits. Sentence 4 then explains how this theory can enhance the validity and understanding of the research project. The passage then explains that in order to use the statistical theory in the research project, a quantitative research design and positivist paradigm must be employed, followed by sentence 2. Finally, sentence 3 explains that field data will be collected and converted into numerical format in order for statistical calculations to be made and conclusions drawn. This sequence is logical as it follows the progression of the passage in a clear and coherent manner.

Trap of the question:

Some arrangements of sentences may appear to be ideologically coherent but do not adhere to either grammatical rules, linguistic nuances, or the chain of ideas holistically, which is an effective trap in such cases. It is necessary to evaluate the holistic chain of thought while answering such questions.

Video Solution:Q18 Text Solution:

Correct answer: 2143

Essence of the Question: The question asks you to arrange the statements in a logical order to convey a meaningful sequence.

Explanation for the Correct Answer:

1. Acquisition of new technology is viewed by many as the magic that will change everything into gold. This statement sets the stage by introducing the common misconception that new technology alone will solve all problems.
2. It is a common misconception that after the installation of new technology profits will go up, efficiency will be increased with minimal downtime being experienced. This statement continues from the previous one, elaborating on the misconception regarding the effects of new technology.
3. But this is not always so because technology is about business processes. This statement serves as a transition, introducing the idea that technology is only as effective as the business processes it supports.
4. Fixing current shortcomings in the system requires a brilliant look at the business processes including whether the set protocols are being followed. This statement concludes the sequence by emphasizing the importance of analyzing and improving business processes rather than relying solely on new technology.

Trap of the question: One common trap in this question is to incorrectly place statement 3 before statement 4. While it may seem logical to introduce the importance of business processes before discussing the limitations of technology, the correct sequence first establishes the misconception about technology's effects before introducing the idea of business processes.

Video Solution:Q19 Text Solution:*Essence of the question:

Here four sentences are given which are not in order. We need to arrange them logically in a proper sequence so that a meaningful paragraph can be formed. The correct order will be our answer.

Explanation for the answers:

The correct sequence is 2413. This sequence is correct because the passage is describing the nervous system and its functions. Statement-2 sets the foundation for the topic by introducing what the nervous system is and its purpose. Statement-4 expands on this by mentioning the other bodily systems that the nervous system regulates. Statement-1 explains the mechanism by which the nervous system communicates and functions, which is through specialized cells called neurons. Finally, statement-3 provides an example of how the nervous system functions by relaying electrical impulses throughout the body, allowing individuals to move and feel. This sequence progresses in a logical way, building on the previous statement to provide a comprehensive understanding of the nervous system and its functions.

Trap of the question:

Some arrangements of sentences may appear to be ideologically coherent but do not adhere to either grammatical rules, linguistic nuances, or the chain of ideas holistically, which is an effective trap in such cases. It is necessary to evaluate the holistic chain of thought while answering such questions.

Video Solution:

Q20 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

Here four sentences are given which are not in order. We need to arrange them logically in a proper sequence so that a meaningful paragraph can be formed. The correct order will be our answer.

Explanation for the answer:

The correct sequence is 4312. This sequence is logical because it flows from the general idea of the complexity of reproductive mechanisms in birds, mentioned in sentence 4 to the specific phenomenon of birds not having families and living with partners for a short period of time, discussed in sentence 3. Sentence two then raises the question of how female birds determine suitability in a mate and presents one assumption as to how this may occur, provides an ending to the paragraph. This sequence is logical because it presents the information in a logical progression that builds upon the previous statement.

Trap of the question:

Some arrangements of sentences may appear to be ideologically coherent but do not adhere to either grammatical rules, linguistic nuances, or the chain of ideas holistically, which is an effective trap in such cases. It is necessary to evaluate the holistic chain of thought while answering such questions.

Video Solution:

Q21 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

Here four sentences are given which are not in order. We need to arrange them logically in a proper sequence so that a meaningful paragraph can be formed. The correct order will be our answer.

Explanation for the answer:

The correct sequence is 2413. This sequence of statements accurately conveys the main ideas discussed in the passage, which are the multiple definitions of leisure, its positive connotation in the mass consciousness, and the argument by Wilson that leisure is not just about the amount of time, but also about the quality of the experience during that time. Statement-2 sets the stage by introducing the multiple definitions of leisure and its positive connotation. Statement-4 introduces Wilson's argument and provides specific examples of how leisure can be used. Statement-1 and 3 then build on Wilson's argument by emphasizing that the quality of the experience is an important factor in determining the definition of leisure. The order of these statements is logical because it moves from a general introduction to the topic to a more specific discussion of the author's argument.

Trap of the question:

Some arrangements of sentences may appear to be ideologically coherent but do not adhere to either grammatical rules, linguistic nuances, or the chain of ideas holistically, which is an effective trap in such cases. It is necessary to evaluate the holistic chain of thought while answering such questions.

Video Solution:

Q22 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

Here four sentences are given which are not in order. We need to arrange them logically in a proper sequence so that a meaningful paragraph can be formed. The correct order will be our answer.

Explanation for the answer:

The correct sequence is 2413. This sequence is correct as it follows a logical progression of the topic, starting with the second sentence, the general statement that all living organisms obtain energy from the environment through various processes, and then providing specific examples of cellular fermentation as one such process in sentence 4. It then goes on to mention that yeast is one organism that performs this process, discussed in sentence 1, shows that 1 follows 4, and continues to mention in sentence 3 that this process also occurs in other organisms such as muscle cells of animals and bacteria. This order is accurate according to the correct sequence of statements.

Trap of the question:

Some arrangements of sentences may appear to be ideologically coherent but do not adhere to either grammatical rules, linguistic nuances, or the chain of ideas holistically, which is an effective trap in such cases. It is necessary to evaluate the holistic chain of thought while answering such questions.

Video Solution:

Q23 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

Here four sentences are given which are not in order. We need to arrange them logically in a proper sequence so that a meaningful paragraph can be formed. The correct order will be our answer.

Explanation for the answer:

The correct sequence is 3214. This sequence is correct because it provides a logical progression of events and ideas. The passage starts with sentence three by mentioning that the United States was involved in the Cold War and the Space Race, which set the stage for the technological advancements that were to come. The next statement i.e. sentence two explains how the United States' involvement in the expansion of outer space contributed to its technological advancements, specifically through the development of artificial satellites. The first statement goes into more detail about how these satellites were used to enhance security within the country. Finally, the passage concludes by mentioning the United States' focus on developing security measures to protect its national security, mentioned in sentence four. This sequence of statements is logical because it builds upon the previous statement, providing more information and elaboration on the main idea.

Trap of the question:

Some arrangements of sentences may appear to be ideologically coherent but do not adhere to either grammatical rules, linguistic nuances, or the chain of ideas holistically, which is an effective trap in such cases. It is necessary to evaluate the holistic chain of thought while answering such questions.

Video Solution:

Q24 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

Here four sentences are given which are not in order. We need to arrange them logically in a proper sequence so that a meaningful paragraph can be formed. The correct order will be our answer.

Explanation for the answer:

The correct sequence is 2314. This sequence is logical because it follows the chronological order of Truman's actions and decisions after he became the President. It starts with sentence two that discusses his assumption of office, then his objective of continuing Roosevelt's policies, discussed in sentence three. Sentence three is followed by sentence one that discusses the support he received from the previous cabinet, and then his focus on economics and labor in sentence four, providing a closing to the paragraph. This sequence provides a clear picture of Truman's actions and decisions after he became the President.

Trap of the question:

Some arrangements of sentences may appear to be ideologically coherent but do not adhere to either grammatical rules, linguistic nuances, or the chain of ideas holistically, which is an effective trap in such cases. It is necessary to evaluate the holistic chain of thought while answering such questions.

Video Solution:

Q25 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

Here four sentences are given which are not in order. We need to arrange them logically in a proper sequence so that a meaningful paragraph can be formed. The correct order will be our answer.

Explanation for the answer:

The correct sequence is 4123. This sequence is correct because it presents a logical progression of ideas. It starts with sentence four by introducing the main topic of the passage, which is the use of agencies and the Internet as advertising channels for tourism establishments. Then it goes on to explain the advantages of using these channels, which include increased consumer awareness, effective competition, and increased purchases in sentence one. Statement-2 explains how this increase in consumer awareness is achieved by providing more information to potential customers through the use of agencies and the Internet. Finally, statement-3 concludes by explaining how this increased awareness leads to increased purchases and visits to the subject destination. This logical progression of ideas makes it easy for the reader to understand the main point of the passage and the reasoning behind it.

Trap of the question:

Some arrangements of sentences may appear to be ideologically coherent but do not adhere to either grammatical rules, linguistic nuances, or the chain of ideas holistically, which is an effective trap in such cases. It is necessary to evaluate the holistic chain of thought while answering such questions.

Video Solution:

Q26 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

Here four sentences are given which are not in order. We need to arrange them logically in a proper sequence so that a meaningful paragraph can be formed. The correct order will be our answer.

Explanation for the answer:

The correct sequence is 2431. This is the logical sequence as it first describes that the High-Speed Elevators offer tourists the opportunity of experiencing a fast vertical ride in sentence two, and then talk about other products that are being offered in sentence four. This is followed by a description of the nature of these products which is that they are non-tangible and the tourists only pay for the experience without having to own any product in sentence three. Finally, sentence one summarizes that tourists pay for the services without having to assume ownership. It is a step-by-step description of the products and the nature of the services being offered.

Trap of the question:

Some arrangements of sentences may appear to be ideologically coherent but do not adhere to either grammatical rules, linguistic nuances, or the chain of ideas holistically, which is an effective trap in such cases. It is necessary to evaluate the holistic chain of thought while answering such questions.

Video Solution:

Q27 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

Here four sentences are given which are not in order. We need to arrange them logically in a proper sequence so that a meaningful paragraph can be formed. The correct order will be our answer.

Explanation for the answer:

The correct sequence is 3241. The sequence of these statements is meaningful because first statement-3 sets the historical context for the origin of State Global Colonization and then statement-2 provides a description of the state of world maps at that time. Statement-4 explains the impact of the discovery of new lands, and finally, statement-1 summarizes the significance of the explorers' journey in the larger context of global exploration and mapping. This sequence effectively conveys the historical context, the state of knowledge and technology at the time, and the impact of the discovery of the American continents on the world.

Trap of the question:

Some arrangements of sentences may appear to be ideologically coherent but do not adhere to either grammatical rules, linguistic nuances, or the chain of ideas holistically, which is an effective trap in such cases. It is necessary to evaluate the holistic chain of thought while answering such questions.

Video Solution:

Q28 Text Solution:*Essence of the question:

Here four sentences are given which are not in order. We need to arrange them logically in a proper sequence so that a meaningful paragraph can be formed. The correct order will be our answer.

Explanation for the answer:

The paragraph is discussing the importance of biodiversity and the threats it faces from human activities. Sentence 3 is a good starting point because it introduces the topic of biodiversity and the diversity of life on earth. Sentence 1 follows logically because it emphasizes the importance of biodiversity to the well-being of our planet and species. Sentence 4 provides an introduction of the idea that humans need to take action to protect the natural world in order to preserve biodiversity. Sentence 2 provides the reason why such action is necessary, namely, because human activities are threatening the diversity of life on earth and proving an ending to the paragraph. Thus, the correct order is 3142.

Trap of the question:

Some arrangements of sentences may appear to be ideologically coherent but do not adhere to either grammatical rules, linguistic nuances, or the chain of ideas holistically, which is an effective trap in such cases. It is necessary to evaluate the holistic chain of thought while answering such questions.

Video Solution:Q29 Text Solution:*Essence of the question:

Here four sentences are given which are not in order. We need to arrange them logically in a proper sequence so that a meaningful paragraph can be formed. The correct order will be our answer.

Explanation for the answer:

The correct sequence is 3241. This sequence is correct because it explains the role and purpose of inorganic additives in the food industry, and then emphasizes the regulations surrounding their use. Statement-3 introduces the idea that inorganic additives are added to food for specific purposes such as preserving flavor and enhancing taste. Statement-2 expands on this by describing the broader role these additives play in the food industry, including their impact on storage, taste, quality, cost, and global availability. Statement-4 highlights the importance of regulation by indicating that their use is strongly regulated by national and international laws. Finally, statement-1 reinforces the idea that these regulations are in place to ensure safe and responsible use of chemical additives in food. This sequence provides a clear and comprehensive explanation of the role and regulation of inorganic additives in the food industry.

Trap of the question:

Some arrangements of sentences may appear to be ideologically coherent but do not adhere to either grammatical rules, linguistic nuances, or the chain of ideas holistically, which is an effective trap in such cases. It is necessary to evaluate the holistic chain of thought while answering such questions.

Video Solution:

Q30 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

Here four sentences are given which are not in order. We need to arrange them logically in a proper sequence so that a meaningful paragraph can be formed. The correct order will be our answer.

Explanation for the answer:

The correct sequence is 3241. This sequence of statements is correct as it provides a comprehensive overview of the role of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) in the organization of the Olympic Games.

Statement-3 establishes the frequency of the games and the responsible body for their organization and becomes the first sentence. Statement-2 provides the background of the IOC and its origin as an international non-governmental organization. Statement-4 highlights the paradox of the IOC's role as a non-governmental organization that acts as a governmental body, providing the necessary regulations and oversight for the conduct of the games. As sentence 4 discusses the same issue of IOC, makes it follow. Finally, statement-1 outlines the IOC's responsibilities in regulating the rules of commerce and working with other organizations to ensure the successful conduct of the Olympic Games.

Trap of the question:

Some arrangements of sentences may appear to be ideologically coherent but do not adhere to either grammatical rules, linguistic nuances, or the chain of ideas holistically, which is an effective trap in such cases. It is necessary to evaluate the holistic chain of thought while answering such questions.

Video Solution:

Android App

| iOS App

| PW Website